

One of the world's foremost destinations for the festival of colours is Pushkar, a small hamlet sandwiched between the Aravalis of the west and the plains of east Rajasthan. Not just Indians, but backpackers and tourists come together at Pushkar every year for a Holi of a lifetime. Top up your trip with a visit to the legendary Ajmer Sharif Dargah, feast on some delectable food and celebrate Holi in the backpacker's way.

Detailed Itinerary:

Departure Day:

Start our journey to Pushkar from Gurgaon on board the Kanjoos Traveller bus. The road trip takes us through the states of Haryana and Rajasthan to the most beautiful town of Rajasthan. We will be stopping for a tea break at Behror and will continue our journey towards Pushkar.

Day 1:

We will be arriving at Pushkar in late morning hours followed by breakfast. Get freshen up at the hotel followed by the magical holi celebrations in the streets of Pushkar. Post that, have some Rabri Malpua with some special Lassi *winks* and head back to the hotel to get cleaned up. Our evening will be relaxed and surrounded with Music and socializing. You can also indulge in the optional Safaris in the Pushkar Desert.

Day 2:

Wake up early and have breakfast. We will be riding to Ajmer Today.
Before that, we will be visiting the only Brahma Temple in the world.

Ajmer Sharif Dargah is located really close to Pushkar and our last evening will be there feasting on amazing mughlai cuisine. We will be starting our journey to Gurgaon and will be arriving the next day early morning.
